Dear Sir,

11/02/1992

The Codesa management committee, together with the government, should instal the transitional authority, within 6 months, and establish the interim government of national unity, to Lead the nations of South Africa, to a democratic, non-racial state. Codesa, must nominate or elect the council that is going to govern, the interim government until the establishment of the Constituent Assembly, elected by one-man-one vote by all South Africans to Lead the nation of South Africa to a government of national unity, peace, reconciliation and political tolerance of different racial groups of nations in our beloved country.

Codesa, should implement, its decisions about the establishment of interim government, very soon so that the international community, can help to bring about change in the new S.A. and to, advice new authority of the interim government.

All South African's are tired of Apartheid and prefer a democratic interim government in 1992 within 6 months from Batswana Nation in Bophuthatswana

Dear Sirs,

I think its the duty and responsibility, of the international community, to assist the new, interim government, of the new S.A to achieve success and recognition by the united nations, as a ~~Free~~ new member of the international community. The international community members of United nations, must play the Referee ~~of~~ between various political parties, Liberation movements and the right wing organizations. To save life and property, the united nations, should send troops in South Africa, to restore Law and order, between various nations involved in political violence and intolerance of each other, as members or supporters of different organizations, parties and Liberation movements in South Africa.

The presence of United Nations observers ~~is~~ during the process to democratic government is necessary, as a priority to all concerned people of South Africa, about their future role as citizens of the "New non-racial South Africa". UN. must monitor the new government until the spirit of democracy is truly established in South Africa.

12TH February 1992

The future of "TBVC" states.

Dear Sirs.

I feel its necessary for all the TBVC states, to be incorporated into one South African state, because the world body the united nations, does not recognise the homeland governments.

The homeland system was imposed on the African people by the Verwoerd government, to divide the black people, not to join the white government of South Africa - its very important to recorder one-man one vote by the homeland Leaders.

To test the Referendum's, whether the homeland people want one government or not is not necessary because we did vote for the homeland Leaders to rule us, they were nominated by the South African Government, to promote the Apartheid system.

We are dissatisfied about the the homeland government's, we want to re-incorporate into S.A as one nation, one state of ~~denew~~ democratic South Africa.
